

Kerr Kronicles Volume XLVIII

Peek into the Past: Rev. Kerr's last paragraph in his book published in 2001 is as follows:

Over two hundred years ago the sturdy Scot men and women made their way to Clear Creek and out of the building blocks of faith, hope, love and hard work they built their church. Their descendants, out of many of the same building blocks, have built on that foundation and with a spirit of determination and praise they are ready to build into the future. We join "the Saints who from their labor rest" in singing the Doxology and in Faith, Hope and Love look forward to the future for the greater glory of God.

We hope these weekly "Kerr's Kronicles" have renewed your interests in our history and given inspiration for the future 250 years of our church. For more historical facts, we recommend the book "The Presbyterian Gathering on Clear Creek" by Russell Martin Kerr which may be purchased in the Church office.
